EMPLOYMENT INDEX

Monster Employment Index reports 16 percent growth in online job postings in the UAE, month-on-month

October 2016 Index Highlights

- The UAE has seen a 18 percent year-on-year decline in job opportunities listed online compared to October 2015; however, has witnessed a 16 percent growth in online job postings month-on-month
- Production/ Manufacturing, Automotive and Ancillary; and Healthcare all experienced growth in online job opportunities in the UAE
- Both Bahrain and Oman recorded negative growth for the first time in six months
- KSA saw a 12 percent decline from the same period last year; seven percentage points higher than last month.

Dubai, 21 November 2016 – The Monster Employment Index (MEI), a monthly gauge of online job posting activity in the Middle East, has registered a 18 per percent decline in online job postings across the UAE compared to the same period last year. Despite this, the index registered the most optimistic results in the region on the month, reporting 16 percent growth over the month of September.

“This has been the first time the results for the UAE have improved since July this year, and while we hope this is an early indication of a recovery in the UAE recruitment industry, it is too early to make any predictions,” said Sanjay Modi, Managing Director, Monster.com, APAC & Middle East.

Industries that recorded the highest growth in online recruitment across the region included Production/ Manufacturing, Automotive and Ancillary; and Healthcare at four percent and two percent respectively. The most in-demand occupations were seen in Purchase, Logistics and Supply Chain, reporting seven percent growth.

In contrast, the hospitality sector recorded the highest decline in online job postings with a reduction of 37 percent from the same period last year, while demand in Finance and Account professionals saw job postings down by 49 percent from October 2015.

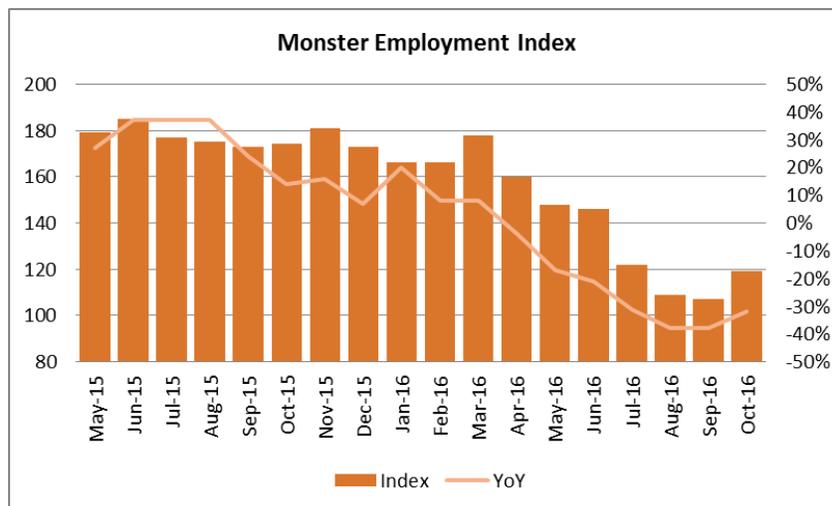

From the GCC countries analysed, the latest MEI reveals Bahrain (two percent) and Oman (five percent) both registered a decline in online recruitment from last year, for the first time in six months. KSA recorded a six percent month on month decline and a 12 percent year-on-year decline.

Looking at the wider Middle East region, Egypt witnessed a dramatic (47 percent) decline since last year, the steepest among all countries monitored by Monster. E-recruitment activity in the country also plunged nine percent from last month.

“The UAE is the most promising market among the regions monitored. This can be attributed to the nation’s commitment to diversifying its economy and becoming less reliant on oil export revenues. With ambitious visions and developments undergoing in many sectors, the government’s strategy has succeeded in reducing the impact of the reduced oil prices on the UAE economy. Through time, and as developments continue, we believe demand for talent in the UAE will increase,” Sanjay added.

The Monster Employment Index is based on a real-time review of tens of thousands of employer job opportunities culled from a large representative selection of career web sites and online job listings. The Index does not reflect the trend of any one advertiser or source, but is an aggregate measure of the change in job listings across the industry.

Monster Employment Index reports a 29 percent increase in oil and gas recruitment in KSA

- The oil and gas sector has seen a 29 percent increase in online recruitment over the last year despite a hiring ease
- Purchase, logistics and supply chain professional opportunities increased by 12 percent from the previous year
- Engineering, construction and real estate professional opportunities have risen by 7 percent

Riyadh, 21 November, 2016: According to the latest Monster Employment Index, employment opportunities in the oil and gas sector have risen in KSA. The latest statistics show job openings in the Kingdom have increased by 29% compared to last year.

The report's latest figures also show demand has increased in the purchase, logistics and supply chain occupations with a 12 percent rise from the same period last year. This is despite an overall regional decline of 2%. Engineering, construction and real estate follow closely behind with a steady 7 percent increase in industry growth since 2015.

"Saudi Arabia is investing in talent, and with plans to reduce its dependence on oil and gas through diversification, KSA is working towards becoming a major player in the global market. The country is rapidly expanding its service sectors including healthcare, real estate, businesses and construction as part of the country's Vision 2030", said Sanjay Modi, Sanjay Modi, Monster.com, Managing Director – APAC and Middle East.

The Kingdom of Saudi Arabia is currently focused on reducing its dependence on oil and gas and exploring alternatives to diversify its economy. Sectors of particular focus for the Kingdom are health, education, infrastructure and tourism. These latest figures mirror the Kingdom's drive for progress and transformational growth which form part of the country's 'Vision 2030 National Transformation Plan'. "The increased demand in online Purchase / Logistics / Supply Chain professional job postings suggests that with the constant flow of imports and exports in the country, a positive economic outlook for the coming year may be possible. Similarly, the consistent increase of engineering and construction jobs reflects the country's continuous growth as we head towards 2030", concluded Modi. The Monster Employment Index is a monthly gauge of online job posting activity in the Middle-East based on a real-time review of tens of thousands of employer job opportunities culled from a large representative selection of career websites and online job listings. The Index does not reflect the trend of any one advertiser or source, but is an aggregate measure of the change in job listings across the industry.
